Mining data in Healthcare with HTML5. HTML5 is an up-and-coming web technology, is similar to HTML4 and runs on a wider range of browsers than Flash, JavaScript and HTML 4.x. As a result, HTML5 has a strong appeal and fast adoption in the Web market. HTML5 is well suited for building interactive Web applications for the healthcare industry. This opens up a whole new world of possibilities for data mining. Companies like IBM/WebSphere and Oracle are now offering HTML5 based applications in their WebSphere App Server and Oracle Fusion Middleware respectively. This paper describes an open source project, called the WebSapper Project. This is a web tool that is designed to load data from spreadsheets or databases such as Microsoft Office Excel and Microsoft SQL Server. The WebSapper Project features a highly interactive user interface and is compatible with HTML5, JavaScript and CSS3. The Mining Software Suite has been released. The Mining Software Suite consists of 3 main tools: Matlab Mining for Websites, Mining for Healthcare and Mining for NGOs. The main purpose of the Mining Software Suite is to provide the users with the right tools to mine data from websites, which does not require any programming skills. A quick literature review shows that most of the methods and applications that are being used are not suitable for the Web. In fact, most of them require

Radial reconstruction technique for desmoplastic fibroma of bone. Desmoplastic fibroma is a rare benign neoplasm which is composed of well-differentiated fibroblasts which have a prominent collagenous matrix. This case report presented the case of an 8-year-old male child with a desmoplastic fibroma of the distal femur. The lesion was a rapidly growing lesion that on radiography appeared to be a radiolucent osteolytic lesion. The tumor was initially diagnosed and treated incorrectly as a fibrosarcoma. The lesion was then excised and the child remained symptom-free for 8 years. Eleven years later, recurrence of a lesion was noted at the site of previous resection. Radiography revealed a lytic lesion with a radiolucent center and well-defined, corticated borders. The lesion was excised and the child returned to baseline activity. The lesion was confirmed to be a desmoplastic fibroma on histology. The natural 6a5afdb4c
